3. Mr. Berkovitch, Counsel to the Special Subcommittee of the Senate Rules Committee considering Congressional Committee procedures, informed me that Judge Morris had again raised the question of the possibility of some testimony from [redacted] which might be helpful to the Subcommittee. I told Mr. Berkovitch that I had previously informed Judge Morris that when [redacted] appeared before the Jenner Committee, Sen. Jenner might wish to wear his Rules Committee hat to ask the necessary questions. I said that [redacted] would not be available until the middle of October at the earliest and it might be preferable not to have him testify before the first of the year.

4. In accordance with my agreement with Congressman Hillings, I informed his office that if there were documents which the Congressman had brought back [redacted] which were in need of translation for the Subcommittee's hearings, if the identifying numbers on these documents could be given to me I would ascertain whether we already had translations of the documents available. However, it was agreed that we would not undertake the translation of such documents as we had not already translated. It may be that the Subcommittee has completed arrangements with the Library of Congress which will cover all of their translation needs.
